CHARLES E. BINDER, ESQ.

Mr. Binder, of the Law Offices of Harry J. Binder and Charles E. Binder, P.C., works almost exclusively on Social Security disability cases at both the administrative and federal court levels. A graduate of Georgetown University Law School, Mr. Binder was an officer and member of the Executive Committee of the National Organization of Social Security Claimants' Representatives (NOSSCR) for many years, as well as a past president of the New York Social Security Bar Association. He has regularly lectured on behalf of the New York State Bar Association for its Continuing Legal Education programs covering Social Security disability, as well as at many NOSSCR conventions, conferences on Social Security disability organized by the Practising Law Institute, before hospital staffs, vocational rehabilitation specialists and various foundations dealing with the problems of the elderly and disabled. He has twice lectured for the pro bono panel of the Eastern District of New York concerning Social Security disability cases from the plaintiff's perspective. He has also testified before the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Ways and Means Social Security Subcommittee about the Social Security Disability Program.

DANIEL S. JONES, ESQ.

Daniel S. Jones is a graduate of New York Law School, class of 2010, where he was admitted as part of the John Marshall Harlan Scholars Program. He was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 2010 and the New York State bar in February 2011. He currently practices exclusively in the area of federal court appeals of Social Security disability claims. Prior to becoming a member of the bar, Mr. Jones spent eight years working as a non-attorney representative of claimants appearing before the Social Security Administration at all levels of the administrative process. He is a member in good standing of the Eastern and Southern District Courts of New York as well as the District Court of New Jersey.
