New York State Bar Association Continuing Legal Education publications are intended to provide current and accurate information to help attorneys maintain their professional competence. Publications are distributed with the understanding that NYSBA does not render any legal, accounting or other professional service. Attorneys using publications or orally conveyed information in dealing with a specific client's or their own legal matters should also research original sources of authority.

We consider the publication of any NYSBA practice book as the beginning of a dialogue with our readers. Periodic updates to this book will give us the opportunity to incorporate your suggestions regarding additions or corrections. Please send your comments to: CLE Publications Director, New York State Bar Association, One Elk Street, Albany, NY 12207.

ABOUT THE CONTRIBUTORS

Editors-in-Chief

PATRICIA W. JOHNSON, ESQ.

Patricia Johnson is Assistant Counsel to the New York State Commission on Quality of Care and Advocacy for Persons with Disabilities, where she counsels the state's Surrogate Decision-Making Committee (SDMC) Program enacted under N.Y. Mental Hygiene Law Article 80. The SDMCs are an alternate approach to the court system for obtaining an informed decision about major medical treatment for clients with mental disabilities in residential facilities and programs operated, licensed, or funded by an office of the Department of Mental Hygiene.

She is the author of several Counsel's Corner articles in Quality of Care, including "Promoting Autonomy—Advance Directives," Fall–Winter 1999–2000; "Refusal of Treatment by Children and the Mature Minor Doctrine," Fall–Winter 1998–1999; and "First Do No Harm," Spring 2000, addressing end-of-life decision-making.

Ms. Johnson is a member of the Planning Committee as well as Legal and Program Consultant to the cable television series, "Disability and the Law."

PROFESSOR NANCY M. MAURER

Nancy Maurer is a Clinical Professor of Law and Co-Director of the Albany Law Clinic and Justice Center at Albany Law School. She teaches courses in Disability Law, Negotiating for Lawyers, Trial Practice, and Legal Issues in Medicine; she also directs the Field Placement Clinics. She founded the law school's Civil Rights and Disabilities Law Clinic, a program in which law students, working under faculty supervision, represent clients with disabilities in cases involving special education, discrimination, public entitlements, or other disability rights matters. Professor Maurer is a member of the New York State Bar Association's Committee on Issues Affecting People with Disabilities and is chair of the board of directors of Disability Advocates, Inc. She has written and lectured in the areas of clinical legal education and disability law, and is Co-Editor of the New York State Bar Association's publication, Representing People with Disabilities.

KATHLEEN E. SURGALLA, ESQ.

Kathleen Surgalla, Assistant Counsel for the New York State Education Department Office of Counsel since 1990, received her J.D. degree in 1979 from the State University of New York at Buffalo, where she also received her Ph.D. in Political Science in 1984. Her doctoral dissertation examined the impact of lawyers and advocacy organizations on implementation of special education law in New York. Prior to joining the State Education Department, she was Director of Legal Services for the New York State Association for Retarded Children, Inc./Eric County Chapter, then senior attorney with the New York State Mental Hygiene Legal Service. She chaired the New York State Bar Association's Committee on Issues Affecting People with Disabilities from 2000 until 2004 and is a frequent speaker at continuing legal education programs on special education law.
