Ivie Guobadia Serieux represents employers in all aspects of employment litigation, including matters involving race, age, sex and disability discrimination and retaliation. Ivie has successfully represented clients in a variety of different forums, including:

- Federal, state and city courts
- The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC)
- The New York State Division of Human Rights
- The New York City Commission on Human Rights

Her practice focuses on representing and counseling employers in all aspects of employment discrimination litigation as well as emerging issues in Title IX compliance and litigation. Ivie drafts personnel policies and handbooks, and counsels employers on compliance with federal, state and city employment laws. In addition, she handles traditional labor arbitrations and grievances, as well as conducts internal workplace investigations and manager/employee trainings.
