Ben Wolf is a former corporate restructuring and bankruptcy attorney at Kramer Levin Naftalis & Frankel LLP. Following his law firm career, Ben served as general counsel and built the majority of operations at FreedomCare, a mission-driven and tech-powered healthcare startup. Ben implemented a comprehensive set of tools and processes called the Entrepreneurial Operating System (EOS). After just three years, FreedomCare became the largest and fastest growing organization of its type in New York State. Ben is now the founder and CEO of Wolf's Edge Consulting, where he helps clients around the U.S. implement EOS in their own firms and businesses.
