

Law, Youth & Citizenship Program

A Statewide Law-Related and Civic Education Program

Law, Youth and Citizenship

Civic Education Programs

We the People: The Citizen and the Constitution

This program is an innovative course of instruction on the history and principles of constitutional democracy in the United States. The program, funded by an act of Congress and sponsored nationally by the Center for Civic Education, is sponsored statewide by the Law, Youth and Citizenship Program of the New York State Bar Association, which offers free training and textbooks for grades four through 12. A statewide network of Congressional District Coordinators administers the program locally. The two main components of the program are the textbooks and a culminating activity, the simulated congressional hearing, which can be done competitively or non-competitively. In addition to regular in-service training, an intensive weeklong summer institute is held each year. For more information, visit www.lycny.org or www.civiced.org.

We the People: Project Citizen

We the People: Project Citizen is a curricular program for students and youth groups that promotes competent and responsible participation in local and state government. The program is sponsored nationally by the Center for Civic Education and is sponsored statewide by the Law, Youth and Citizenship Program of the New York State Bar Association. Free training and textbooks are provided through a network of coordinators. The three main components of this program are the Project Citizen text, the portfolio, and the simulated legislative hearing. Level One is elementary/middle school appropriate; Level Two is geared for high school and college. In addition to regular in-service training, state and regional institutes are held. For more information, visit www.lycny.org or www.civiced.org.

Representative Democracy in America: Voices of the People

Representative Democracy in America: Voices of the People is a new national project, administered in New York by LYC, designed to reinvigorate and educate Americans on the critical relationship between government and the people it serves. The project introduces citizens, particularly young people, to the representatives, institutions, and processes that serve to realize the goal of a government of, by, and for the people. No-cost in-service training and free materials are available. For more information, visit www.lycny.org and www.representativedemocracy.org.

Outreach

Distinguished Service Awards for Attorneys and Educators

Each year, The Distinguished Service Award is presented to the outstanding attorney who has contributed the most to law-related education in the past year. The Emil Zullo Award is presented to the educator that has demonstrated excellence in law-related education in the past year. Award criteria and applications are available at www.lycny.org or by contacting the LYC Program.

Youth Service Advocate

The NYSBA Youth Service Advocate designation is reserved for exceptional youth who have devoted a certain number of hours to law-related volunteer service in a given year. The Youth Service Advocate designation is an honor, and may be used on applications for college admission and scholarships, as well as on applications for other awards and honors. Information and application available at www.lycny.org under "Awards."

Educational Programs

A partnership between the New York State Bar Association and the New York State Education Department, the Law, Youth and Citizenship (LYC) Program was established in 1974 to promote law-related education in New York's public and private schools. The LYC Program assists educators in preparing students, prekindergarten through 12th grade, for their active, engaged roles as citizens who have the knowledge, skills, and the civic attitudes fundamental to a healthy democracy. The goal of the LYC Program is to provide programs, training, and materials that enhance student understanding of the law, our constitutional form of government, and the rights and responsibilities of citizens. LYC programs promote the development of essential "life skills" and support the New York State standards across the curricula.

Law, Youth and Citizenship . . .

- Provides a variety of civics and law-related education professional development opportunities for K-12 teachers;
- Develops and distributes high quality materials on a wide range of law-related education topics;
- Provides opportunities for students to interact with members of the legal profession;
- Administers statewide educational programs;
- Exposes students to new and challenging experiences in the community.

Professional Development

Since 1974, thousands of elementary, middle school and secondary teachers have been instructed in law-related civics content and methodology through numerous professional development conferences, workshops and summer institutes sponsored by LYC.

Statewide Conference

The Law, Youth and Citizenship Program sponsors an annual statewide conference on law-related/civic education each fall. Teachers, administrators, attorneys, criminal justice and law enforcement personnel and university educators attend this premier professional development opportunity each year. The goal of the conference is to provide stimulating and innovative sessions in law-related/civic education for participants new to the field as well as those with broad experience. Experts in law-related/civic education from New York State and around the nation conduct conference sessions. Participants are provided with up-to-date and relevant information as well as original materials and instructional strategies they can use on a daily basis. Certificates of attendance are issued for the purpose of attaining district in-service credit. A small number of scholarships are available each year to allow new teachers and first-time attendees to participate in the conference. Registration materials as well as on-line registration are available at www.lycny.org.

Summer Institutes

Through grants from The New York Bar Foundation and the Center for Civic Education, LYC, in partnership with local educators, is able to offer summer institutes that are held in a variety of locations around the state. These institutes provide comprehensive and intensive law-related/civic education for teachers. Institutes showcase proven law-related/civic education programs and include strong content and pedagogy strands. They provide a strong focus on meeting state standards. Institutes are multi-day and often are free-of-charge. Registration materials are available at www.lycny.org.

School Law Conferences

School law conferences for attorneys, school board members, superintendents, principals and pupil personnel administrators are a result of a collaboration between LYC and the New York State School Boards Association. The goal of the conferences is to inform participants about key legal decisions, revised federal regulations and new laws affecting school district operations. Conferences are held in several locations throughout the state and are led by experts in the field. For more information visit the NYSSBA website at www.nyssba.org. A similar session is held each January at the New York State Bar Association's Annual Meeting in New York City.

Helps bring the case to middle and high school students through dynamic lesson plans incorporating primary documents and the 2005 commemoration testimony.

Creating Informed Vital Involved Citizens Statewide

Accommodations for Persons with Disabilities: NYSBA will make reasonable modifications/accommodations to allow participation in its services, programs, or activities by persons with disabilities. NYSBA will provide auxiliary aids and services upon request. NYSBA will remove architectural barriers and communication barriers that are structural in nature where readily achievable. To request auxiliary aids or services or if you have any questions regarding accessibility, please contact Eileen Gerrish at (518) 486-1748 or egerrish@nysba.org.

Mock Trial Tournament

In this educational program, co-sponsored by The New York Bar Foundation, high school students have the opportunity to gain firsthand knowledge of civil/criminal law and courtroom procedures. Thousands of students participate each year.

Objectives of the tournament are to:

- Teach students ethics, civility and professionalism;
- Further students' understanding of the law, court procedures and the legal system;
- Improve proficiency in basic life skills, such as listening, speaking, reading and reasoning;
- Promote better communication and cooperation among the school community, teachers and students and members of the legal profession; and
- Heighten appreciation for academic studies and stimulate interest in law-related careers.

Registration materials, as well as Mock Trial case materials and a DVD, are available at www.lycny.org.

Mock Trial Summer Institute

The Mock Trial Summer Institute (MTSI) was established in 2005 to strengthen students' and teams' understanding of Mock Trial and its applications. Forty-eight students are selected from New York State schools to attend this week-long, intensive camp-like experience. Under the direction of counselors, who are Mock Trial teacher-coaches, and experienced attorneys, the students study all aspects of Mock Trial and apply their studies to the presentation of a Mock Trial case on the final day of MTSI.

Information about Mock Trial and MTSI is available at www.lycny.org

Law, Youth and Citizenship Staff

Director

Eileen Devine Gerrish was appointed Director of the Law, Youth and Citizenship Program in January 2006. Gerrish has had a long career in education, serving several terms as a school board member, and working as an administrator and teacher. She has been involved in education at all levels for three decades, from preschool teaching to college administration. She recently spent eight years as a high school Social Studies and English teacher for the Saranac Lake (NY) Central School District. As a college administrator, she earned state and national awards for her work in college development. She has written successful grants for both high school and college-level programs. Prior to her career in education, she was Assistant Editor/Acting Editor of the Adirondack Daily Enterprise newspaper. Gerrish has experience in multimedia classroom methods, and is a trained Cooperative Learning teacher. She earned a bachelor's degree in Secondary Education, holds a master's degree in Administration and Leadership and recently completed a Certificate of Advanced Study in Educational Leadership.

Program Manager

Stacey Whiteley is the new Program Manager for the Law, Youth and Citizenship Program. Stacey brings with her years of experience working with youth from differing backgrounds, as well as working closely with members of the criminal justice, educational, and governmental fields through her former work at a not for profit and a criminal justice agency. Stacey also is an experienced public speaker who has conducted a number of trainings, lectures, and workshops. She earned her bachelor's in sociology from the State University of New York, Albany, NY. As the LYC Program Manager, Stacey is responsible for the coordination of the annual Mock Trial Tournament and Mock Trial Summer Institute. Acting as a liaison between the Mock Trial Subcommittee and the staff of LYC, Stacey facilitates the writing and researching of a new case each year. By working closely with the statewide County Coordinators, Stacey is able to distribute case materials, answer questions, recruit new school enrollment, and plan the state tournament finals. Stacey works on a number of other projects and programs for the LYC Program.
