Program Description

The New York State Bar Association's Health Law Section and the Committee on Continuing Legal Education are pleased to present Fundamentals of Health Law. Designed for attorneys either entering into health law practice or interested in learning more about this dynamic field of practice, this program will provide a framework for understanding a wide range of health law issues.

Experienced practitioners looking to expand their ability to represent clients in the health care industry will also benefit from this seminar's overview of the multifaceted field of health law. Recent developments in the health care industry will also be discussed.

The seminar will cover legal issues involving health care providers, payors and consumers. Topics covered will include fundamentals of reimbursement, conditions of participation and operating regulations, HIPAA and confidentiality of health information, health care decision making, fraud and abuse, and regulatory compliance.

Learn the fundamentals of health law with leading practitioners in either New York City, Albany, or via live webcast.

Who Should Attend: Attorneys who represent clients in healthcare industry; attorneys entering into health law practice.
