Symposium on Diversity in Dispute Resolution: The Search for Solutions

Free for NYSBA Members & Non-Members

Much has been said and written about diversity in dispute resolution, but the input has largely been insular with the main focus being on the problem rather than the solution. A different approach will be taken by exploring the diversity achievements of others outside of the dispute resolution community.

A group of the country's leading diversity experts from a wide array of industries will help the dispute resolution community learn from their experience and leverage their successes to find implementable solutions to address our challenges. It promises to be a highly interactive session. The only ticket to admission is the willingness to be honest and open-minded.
