

Message from the Chair

The General Practice Section provides the links and connections for the community of lawyers that are the Section members. One on One is a Section resource which enables the members to keep current in multiple areas of the law. It is my pleasure to serve as the General Practice Section Chair and to send this Message to you—our Section members.

Please read the Message from the Co-Editors which follows for an overview of what you will be reading and learning in this issue of One on One.

We are grateful to the Section's outgoing Chair, John Owens Jr., for his leadership and hard work on behalf of this Section for the past year. Thank you, John!

Beyond keeping Section members well informed in diverse areas of substantive law, the Section hopes to advance an initiative to improve the conditions under which Section members and the overall legal community practice law. Please feel free to submit to One on One articles pertaining to such subjects as professional liability (legal malpractice), professional discipline, the practitioner/court system relationship, and managing a law office. These "nuts and bolts" issues connect all Section members, regardless of their substantive areas of practice. This commonality of interest forges a community of the General Practice Section members.

Please contact me with any suggestions for One on One or for the General Practice Section. Now, it is time for you to enjoy this issue and to reap the benefits for your practice.
