Charlie Moxley is an experienced arbitrator, mediator, litigator, and educator. The principal in MoxleyADR, he is an Adjunct Professor at Fordham Law School, teaching arbitration and international law, as well as the Distinguished ADR Practitioner in Residence at Cardozo Law School and a Fellow of the College of Commercial Arbitrators and of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators.

Charlie has been a litigator handling large commercial, securities, insurance and other cases in federal and state courts throughout the United States for over 35 years. He started serving as an arbitrator in 1977 with the American Arbitration Association (the "AAA") when he was a young associate at Davis Polk & Wardwell.

In recent years, Charlie has spent most of his time as an arbitrator and mediator. He has presided over more than 400 arbitrations, primarily in the commercial, securities, employment, insurance, construction, and international areas, with many of the cases involving substantial claims. He is a member of arbitration and mediation panels of the AAA, the International Centre for Dispute Resolution (the "ICDR"), the International Institute for Conflict Prevention and Resolution ("CPR"), the U.S. Council of International Business ("USCIB") for the ICC International Court of Arbitration, and Supreme Court, New York County (Commercial Division and Part 137). He also serves as arbitrator and mediator in ad hoc cases.

Charlie has published widely in the arbitration area and regularly lectures at academic and professional functions on the subject, including at Fordham, Cardozo, and other law schools and at AAA, American Bar Association, New York State Bar Association ("NYSBA"), New York City Bar Association, and ARIAS-US functions and events. He has also written widely and teaches in the public international law area.

Charlie has been a bar leader for many years. He is currently Co-Chair of the Committee on Arbitration and ADR of the Commercial and Federal Litigation Section ("ComFed") of the NYSBA and a member of ComFed's Executive Committee. Charlie also serves as a member of the Executive Committee of the Dispute Resolution (DR) Section of the NYSBA and is a former Chair of that Section. Charlie also has served as a delegate to NYSBA's House of Delegates.

Charlie started out his career at Davis Polk & Wardwell, following his graduation from Columbia Law School and a clerkship in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, following which he practiced in a number of smaller litigation firms before opening his own ADR firm.
