MICHAEL J. MATTIA, ESQ.

Michael J. Mattia is a partner with the firm of Tunstead and Schechter and focuses on the areas of construction law, surety law, and commercial litigation. He received his Bachelor's Degree in Politics, Philosophy and Law from SUNY Binghamton and his Juris Doctor degree from Hofstra University School of Law. Mr. Mattia has litigated cases involving breach of contract, extra work, delays, acceleration, defective materials, changed conditions, latent defects, design errors, constructive abandonment, payment bonds, performance bonds, lien foreclosure, and other issues in the world of complex construction litigation, for both plaintiffs and defendants, on both public and private construction projects. Mr. Mattia has also lectured for Lorman Educational Service.

MARVIN L. SCHECHTER, ESQ.

Mr. Schechter has been practicing construction law for over 40 years and is the founding and managing partner of Tunstead and Schechter. Mr. Schechter is a graduate of the City College School of Technology, where he received a Bachelor's Degree in Civil Engineering, and Brooklyn Law School where he received a Juris Doctor degree. He worked as a civil engineer and designer for a consulting engineering firm and then as a technical editor for the American Society of Civil Engineers. After his admission to the bar, he formed his own law firm concentrating on construction litigation and later joined with Richard Tunstead to form Tunstead & Schechter. Mr. Schechter is admitted to practice before the Federal and State Courts of New York and the U.S. Court of Federal Claims. He has a wide range of experience performing legal services for a cross-section of the construction industry, lectures regularly to contractors and management groups throughout the country, and has taught construction law at New York University and the City College School of Technology. He has authored a monthly legal column and has had articles published in leading legal and construction periodicals. Mr. Schechter is a Life Member of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He performs legal services exclusively in the construction field in the areas of contract litigation, mediation, arbitration, negotiation, analysis of construction claims and surety law.

NORMAN D. ALVY, ESQ.

Mr. Alvy is a senior counsel with the firm of Tunstead & Schechter, Jericho, N.Y., which concentrates in the construction law, surety, procurement and government contracts field. He is a graduate of Cornell University, School of Industrial and Labor Relations and the State University of New York at Buffalo, School of Law. For over 35 years, he has been practicing in the construction law, government contracts, mechanic's lien law and surety field. He has written numerous legal articles concerning construction law for such publications as the Nassau Lawyer; the Construction Company Strategist, Federal Publications, the ABA Public Contract Newsletter and the Journal of Construction Accounting and Taxation. He is currently counsel to the Queens and Bronx Building Association. He co-authored the Mechanic's Liens book of the New York Practical Skills Series for more than 25 years.
