Whether or not you're a baseball fan, join us to hear from women and men lawyers "in the field" of baseball.

Women and men will learn new, effective communication skills, including "baseball talk" that can be used when speaking with clients and colleagues. One of our guest speakers is Michael Mellis, the Senior Vice President and Chief Legal Officer of the New York Yankees. Prior to joining the Yankees, Michael was the Executive Vice President and General Counsel at Major League Baseball. He knows what it takes to "talk baseball at work" and is ready to share his insight.

Discussion will include how women and men approach sports differently and what works and what does not!

You will also meet LINDSAY BERRA, the granddaughter of Baseball Legend Yogi Berra, courtesy of Write on Sports (<https://writeonsports.org/>, a literacy organization dedicated to teaching children to write through their love of sports).

Additional discussion leaders will be announced.

We'll also network and learn what it's like to practice law in the field of sports law.

Finally, we have two raffles:

- Two box seat tickets to a 2020 New York Yankees game, compliments of MassMutual New Jersey-NYC.
  - Tour with Lindsay Berra at the Yogi Berra Museum & Learning Center for up to eight people.
