Tim Higgins is a member of Lemire & Higgins, LLC, in Malta (Saratoga County), where he has practiced since 2011. Mr. Higgins' litigation practice includes all types of personal injury and wrongful death litigation, including auto accident claims, construction site accidents, and medical malpractice.

Before moving his practice to Saratoga County, he practiced personal injury law for 15 years with Powers & Santola, LLP in Albany.

A graduate of Albany Law School, Empire State College and Adirondack Community College, Tim is a member of the New York State Bar Association, and the Saratoga and Warren County Bar Associations, both of which feature his "Torts and Civil Practice" review column in their membership newsletter.

Tim is a member of the New York State Bar Association's Committee on the Tort System, and formerly served as a Third Judicial District Representative on the Executive Committee of the Trial Lawyers Section of the State Bar Association.
